THE COLLEGE

I. Description

1. A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE COLLEGE

Muhlenberg College is an independent, undergraduate, coeducational institution related to the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. Founded in 1848 to provide a liberal arts education in the Judeo-Christian humanistic tradition, Muhlenberg is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and excellence.

The College is located in Allentown, Pennsylvania, approximately 55 miles north of Philadelphia and 90 miles west of New York City.

As a liberal arts college, Muhlenberg offers programs in the humanities, the natural and social sciences, and in professional areas such as business, education, pre-medical, pre-theological, and pre-law studies. Flexibility is provided through course options and opportunities for independent study, research and internships, and through a plan for self-designed majors. The College strives to keep its curriculum vital and current with the rapidly changing intellectual world. The excellence and integrity of the Muhlenberg program have been recognized by Phi Beta Kappa and by some 13 additional national honorary societies which have established chapters at the College.

Muhlenberg's academic program is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Department of Education of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the New York State Board of Regents. The College is on the approved list of the American Chemical Society. It is also a member of the American Council on Education, the Association of American Colleges, the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education, the American Association of Colleges of Teacher Education, the College Entrance Examination Board, the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities, the Associated Independent Colleges and Universities of Pennsylvania, and the National Collegiate Honors Council.

Significant in the College's tradition are the historic ties between the College and the Lutheran Church. The name Muhlenberg College was adopted in 1867 – 19 years after the College was founded in honor of the patriarch of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. The sons of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg made important contributions to the early life of our country. General John Peter Gabriel Muhlenberg wintered at Valley Forge with George Washington; Frederick Augustus Muhlenberg was the first speaker of the United States House of Representatives; and Henry Ernst Muhlenberg was one of the most eminent early American scientists and the first president of Franklin College, now Franklin and Marshall College.

2. MISSION STATEMENT OF THE COLLEGE

Muhlenberg College aims to develop independent critical thinkers who are intellectually agile, characterized by a zest for reasoned and civil debate, knowledgeable about the achievements and traditions of diverse civilizations and cultures, able to express ideas with clarity and grace, committed to life-long learning, equipped with ethical and civic values, and prepared for lives of leadership and service. The College is committed to providing an intellectually rigorous undergraduate education within the context of a supportive, diverse residential community. We are also committed to educating the whole person through experiences within and beyond the classroom. Our curriculum integrates the traditional liberal arts with selected pre-professional studies. Our faculty are passionate about teaching, value close relationships with students, and are committed to the pedagogical and intellectual importance of research. Honoring its historical heritage from the Lutheran Church and its continuing connection with the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, Muhlenberg welcomes and celebrates a variety of faith traditions on campus and encourages members of the College community to value spiritual life.

3. DIVERSITY STATEMENT OF THE COLLEGE

*Muhlenberg College aims to develop independent critical thinkers who are intellectually agile, characterized by a zest for reasoned and civil debate, knowledgeable about the achievements and traditions of diverse civilizations and cultures, able to express ideas with clarity and grace, committed to life-long learning, equipped with ethical and civic values, and prepared for lives of leadership and service. The College is committed to providing an intellectually rigorous undergraduate education within the context of a supportive, diverse residential community...From the Muhlenberg College Mission Statement

Muhlenberg College believes that diversity, in many forms and expressions, is essential to its educational mission and to its success as a community. We believe that a broad range of human perspectives, experiences, backgrounds, and opinions enriches the academic experience, stimulates intellectual rigor, enhances the quality of life on campus, and prepares our graduates for lives of leadership and service in a democratic, pluralistic society and a diverse world. We believe that our academic program is not able to achieve the goals set in our mission statement unless each member of the community recognizes and understands the benefits, conflicts, tensions, and intersections that are inherent in diversity. Diversity is, therefore, a fundamental Muhlenberg value. To that end, we assume the responsibility of providing educational opportunities to students of talent and potential and professional opportunities to talented faculty and staff representing many different backgrounds and experiences. This reflects our College's commitment to principles of justice, equality, and democracy.

The College has already achieved an admirable degree of diversity in several important respects, such as religion, intellectual pursuits, socio-economic background, and sexual orientation. We recognize that these successes must not lead to complacency, but inspire us to continued effort. Muhlenberg must recommit itself with renewed energy to recruiting and retaining diverse students, faculty, and staff whose range of viewpoints, cultural perspectives, race, ethnicity, sexual orientations, gender identities, lifestyles, interests, political beliefs, nationalities, economic backgrounds, physical abilities, and religious and spiritual values will enrich our curriculum and campus life. We must also commit ourselves to persistent and vigorous efforts to confront, and challenge prejudiced attitudes and behaviors that exclude, demean, or marginalize members of our community by breaking down existing barriers that prevent meaningful discussions about diversity. Finally, Muhlenberg College also commits itself to good citizenship in the wider, local community by supporting with our business those vendors and services that are operated by and fairly employ underrepresented groups.

4. THE YEAR IN REVIEW, 2008-2009

5. CENTERS AND INSTITUTES

Center for Ethics

Lanethea Mathews-Gardner, Political Science

Through its special events and thematic programming, the Center for Ethics fosters community-wide deliberation of ethical issues that engage us in intensive reflective thinking about individual and collective values; about contemporary issues of political, social, and economic significance; and about our powers for ethical reflection, moral leadership, and responsible action. The theme for the 2009-2010 academic year is the "Ethics of Space/Power of Place."

Faculty Center for Teaching

Lisa Perfetti, Languages, Literatures, and Cultures, Director &

Linda McGuire, Mathematics and Computer Science, Program Director

The Faculty Center for Teaching's mission is to provide a forum for faculty to share best practices in teaching and explore new pedagogies. The Center sponsors programs each year led by different faculty members on a variety of topics including: teaching writing, the use of case studies, collaborative learning, classroom assessment, and effective use of technology. The Center also sponsors occasional workshops offered by outside experts in faculty development. The Center supports new faculty by holding an orientation every fall followed by a series of monthly programs, and offering a voluntary peer-partner program to encourage further dialogue about teaching. The Center awards summer grants to faculty who wish to explore innovative pedagogical approaches in their teaching and provides funding to support faculty participation in regional and national teaching workshops and conferences.

The Center was created in 1994 through a faculty initiative with an institutional incentive grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Education and additional funding from grants from the Office of the Provost and grants from the Aid Association for Lutherans. The Center was awarded a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to support initiatives in interdisciplinary teaching. Overseen by a faculty director and an advisory board comprised of faculty members from a variety of disciplines, the Center's operational costs are currently sustained through support from the Shire Family Fund for Excellence in Teaching, established by Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Shire P'90.

Institute for Jewish-Christian Understanding

Rev. Peter A. Pettit, Religion Studies

Established in 1989, the Institute for Jewish-Christian Understanding uses the resources of the academic community to foster dialogue and the development of resources to help people build bridges of understanding between the faith communities. Monthly luncheon discussion programs for both clergy and the public, several local living-room dialogue groups, periodic lecture forums with visiting scholars and religious leaders, the annual Wallenberg Tribute program, and annual prejudice reduction workshops for 1,500 middle-school and high-school students from the region all serve its primary objectives. A middle-school curriculum unit on prejudice reduction and a young-adult dialogue resource have both been published by the Institute, along with dozens and dozens of "Factoids on Faith." On campus, the IJCU sponsors Star-Crossed Students, an interfaith club that leads student dialogues, an annual observance of the Night of Shattered Glass, forums on interfaith dating, religious holidays, and other topics; their activities can be tracked on their Facebook page. The Institute is a founding member of the Council of Centers for Jewish-Christian Relations. It is governed by a board comprising community and college leaders from the business, religious, and academic arenas, and is overseen administratively by the College's Provost. Financial support comes from individual memberships, congregational and denominational grants, corporate and foundation funding, and the College.

7. SPECIAL ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

SELF-DESIGNED MAJOR

Carol Shiner Wilson, Dean of the College for Academic Life

Any highly motivated student may propose a self-designed major not falling within one of the traditional programs of study listed in the College catalog. Students with a self-designed major complete the same general academic requirements as those with a traditional major.

SEMESTER IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

Alton J. Slane, Political Science

Muhlenberg cooperates with several other colleges in the Lutheran College Washington Consortium who together offer a semester in Washington. The semester is designed for juniors and seniors with a variety of academic majors. In addition to seminars drawing upon the special resources available in Washington, there are hundreds of internship possibilities in government, social service agencies, religious groups, medicine, public interest organizations, business and the arts.

EDUCATION ABROAD PROGRAMS

Donna Kish-Goodling, Accounting, Business and Economics

In a world that is becoming increasingly interdependent, international study represents a significant means by which students may better achieve their educational objectives. A variety of opportunities suitable for students in the natural sciences, social sciences, arts and humanities are available at host country institutions and programs in Europe, Australia, Asia, Africa and Latin America. In addition, Muhlenberg students have participated in specialized programs abroad in international business, theatre, language study and field research in environmental science.

DANA SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Mohsin Hashim, Political Science

The Dana Scholars Program provides outstanding students with a unique educational opportunity that includes first year seminar, internship, and independent and collaborative research experiences. The Dana program fosters an active, engaged learning style and encourages students to be self-reliant and personally responsible for shaping much of their own educational experience. Since the Dana program promotes student scholarship and research, it has emerged as a powerful springboard into a variety of attractive postgraduate options for its Associates. Students are required to maintain a cumulative grade point average of 3.33 to remain in the program.

MUHLENBERG SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Theodore W. Schick, Jr., Philosophy

The Muhlenberg Scholars Program is designed to enhance the education of talented students by providing unique opportunities for intellectual exploration, growth and development. Scholar courses are small, interdisciplinary, discussion-oriented courses in which the student is encouraged to grapple creatively with problems at the forefront of current research.

RJ FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

Lora Taub, Media and Communication

The RJ Fellows Program was established at Muhlenberg College by the Scheller family in order to strengthen and develop the decision-making competencies of bright, talented, and hard-working liberal arts undergraduates. The Program realizes that the future is, and will always be, uncertain, and that personally fulfilling and productive lives derive from each individual's ability to make intelligent and ethical decisions in the face of this uncertainty. While acknowledging that human beings inevitably learn many life lessons through trial and error, the Program also believes that education can be a powerful force in strengthening each individual's ability to assess the future and make wise choices. The Program's founders assert that liberal arts education, in particular, has the potential to provide individuals with a variety of analytical, problem-solving, ethical-assessment, and decision-making skills. The RJ Fellows Program is, therefore, deliberately interdisciplinary. Courses affiliated with the Program focus on process and methodology as well as information, and the program itself provides opportunities for students to reflect on and make connections among lessons learned and the implication of those lessons for making wise decisions.

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS PROGRAMS

Some academic departments have honors programs to provide special opportunities for the most highly motivated students to develop their capacities for independent thinking, original research and disciplined scholarship. Honors work consists of seminars, guided independent study, individual research or participation in faculty research, as well as a certain amount of regular course work. Successful honors candidates will graduate with honors in the field of concentration; in addition, they still maintain eligibility for the traditional Latin graduation distinctions.

WRITING PROGRAM

David Rosenwasser, English; Linda Bips, Psychology; and Jill Stephen, English; Co-Directors

WRITING ACROSS THE CURRICULUM PROGRAM

Muhlenberg College offers a Writing Across the Curriculum Program that incorporates writing into virtually every department at the college. The basic premise of the program is that writing is essential to the learning process. Writing instruction at Muhlenberg is not primarily about teaching students to avoid error (that is important but secondary) but about helping them to use writing to develop as creative and critical thinkers. The Program also assumes that the ability to write well cannot be acquired in a semester of practice. As a result, Muhlenberg requires students to take at least three Writing Intensive (aka W) courses during their undergraduate career: a first-year seminar, a writing intensive course designated by the student's major field of study, and one other officially designated W course from anywhere in the curriculum.

Enrollment in W courses is limited to twenty students (fifteen for FYS). Students write a minimum of fifteen pages broken into at least three assignments, including a revision based on the professor's comments about their thinking.

FIRST YEAR SEMINARS

First-Year Seminars are small, discussion-oriented courses that introduce students to the life of the mind - to what it means to think deeply, to talk, read and write critically about ideas; seminars introduce students to what it means to be a college student. Taught by full-time faculty from departments throughout the college, seminars vary in their subjects. Some examine a topic from an interdisciplinary perspective; others focus on particular questions or issues within a discipline. What all First-Year Seminars share is an emphasis on writing and thinking critically about the values and assumptions underlying various approaches to knowledge.

Enrollment is limited to fifteen students, and seminars require weekly writing and reading. Moreover, seminars teach students how to formulate a claim and how to collect, evaluate and cite evidence that supports and qualifies that claim.

WRITING COURSES BEYOND THE FIRST YEAR SEMINAR

Writing intensive courses are specially designed to focus on using writing to learn the characteristic thinking processes practiced by a discipline, as well as the particular forms the discipline employs to convey knowledge. These courses also attend to the similar traits that effective writing shares across the disciplines. Many departments offer a writing-intensive capstone course for senior majors, but there are also a number of lower-level W courses available to both majors and non-majors across the curriculum.

II. Facilities

1. MAJOR FACILITIES

HARRY C. TREXLER LIBRARY

The Harry C. Trexler Library houses the College's primary collections of information resources including books, journals (both print and electronic), videos, recordings, government documents, and electronic databases. The collection of approximately 233,000 volumes, 289,000 U.S. government documents, 16,000 audio visual items, and some 25,000 print and electronic journal subscriptions is designed to meet the general instruction and research needs of undergraduate students. In addition to the on-site collections, students and faculty have access to the collections of five other Lehigh Valley independent colleges and universities, with combined holdings of more than 1.75 million volumes, as well as to libraries worldwide. The OCLC-based interlibrary loan system widens the borrowing circle to worldwide access for free or at low cost. Trexler Library's membership to the Pennsylvania Academic Library Consortium, Inc. (PALCI) provides students and faculty direct borrowing privileges in more than forty academic and research libraries within the Commonwealth and the surrounding area and participation in PALINET allows the library to participate in consortia pricing for databases. Automated with an integrated library system since 1995, the Library continues to add services including electronic reserves, instant messaging reference services, and academic technology training sessions.

Built in 1988, and now celebrating the 20th Anniversary, Trexler Library offers a contemporary and gracious facility combined with varieties of seating and study spaces to meet the needs of individual and group work. Wireless access is available throughout the building, and laptop and notebook computers are available for students to borrow. Also included in the building is a Curriculum Laboratory serving the Education Department, an Information Commons to experiment and demonstrate new technologies to support the curriculum, a completely developed teaching lab for hands-on searching and research development, a PC Lab for student paper writing, the Writing and Information Consultation Center combining the expertise of writing tutors and librarians, the Polling Center, a media viewing classroom and a standard classroom. The Library is open 105 hours per week with additional hours provided during exam periods. Course-integrated instruction pairs librarians with instructors to combine information gathering and evaluating skills into the curriculum with the goal of increasing lifelong information literacy among the Muhlenberg community

GIDEON F. EGNER MEMORIAL CHAPEL

The Egner Chapel is one of the finest modern Gothic campus churches in the nation. Its stained glass windows and vaulted interior provide appropriate settings for worship, meditation, concerts, weddings and academic convocations. The 48-rank, 2,600 pipe Holtkamp organ is used in worship, teaching and musical performances.

THE DOROTHY AND DEXTER BAKER CENTER FOR THE ARTS

The Dorothy and Dexter Baker Center for the Arts was completed in 1976. Dramatic in concept and highly functional, the Center was created for Muhlenberg by Philip Johnson, one of the world's most renowned architects. Focal point of its design and function is a 220-foot, glass-covered galleria which bisects the structure. The galleria serves as a thoroughfare, gathering place, and as a unique site for displaying the arts—inviting students to visit an exhibition, attend a concert, and participate in drawing, painting, sculpture, dance, or the performing arts. The main level contains the Empire theatre/auditorium complex, a lecture/recital hall, galleries, class and seminar rooms, the Art Department office and slide library, and studios for drawing, painting, and sculpture. The upper level contains the Music and English Departments, faculty offices, music studios, music and theatre rehearsal rooms and the music listening room, with the department's collection of recordings and scores.

Included in the musical facilities are Steinway grand pianos for performance and teaching and a Schlicker practice organ, as well as numerous practice studios with pianos. The Electronic Music Studio includes sophisticated analog and digital synthesizers and recording equipment.

TREXLER PAVILION FOR THEATRE AND DANCE

The striking Trexler Pavilion for Theatre and Dance, was completed in December 1999, and houses the Department of Theatre and Dance. Architectural features of this contemporary structure include a curved glass wall which encompasses lobbies on two levels and a pedestrian bridge which connects to the Baker Center for the Arts. The building includes three performance spaces: a 365-seat proscenium theatre with balcony, a student-run experimental theatre, and a dance studio theatre. Other building spaces include a costume shop and dressing rooms, rehearsal rooms, a scenery shop, and departmental offices.

J. CONRAD AND HAZEL J. SEEGER'S UNION

The J. Conrad and Hazel J. Seegers Union serves as a center for social and recreational life at the College. It contains three separate dining facilities. On the main floor the General's Quarters Food Court offers delicious deli sandwiches and sandwiches hot off the grill, the Garden Room Student Restaurant offers diverse meal choices at a variety of food stations and located at the lower level in the Red Door, Sandella's offers made-to-order kosher flatbread quesadillas, pizza, panini sandwiches, salads and grab and go desserts.

Expanded in 2006, Seegers now has the capability to host conference-like events in "The Great Room" which is able to be divided into three meeting rooms. The lobby expands into a living room-like casual meeting and social area complete with Java Joe's offering Starbucks coffee service.

The lower level houses the campus bookstore, student mailroom, and the recently expanded Academic Resource, Career Development, and Student Activities offices.

NEW SCIENCES BUILDING

JOHN V. SHANKWEILER BIOLOGY BUILDING

HARRY C. TREXLER SCIENCES TOWER

PETER S. TRUMBOWER SCIENCE BUILDING

With the completion of the New Science Building and the complete renovation of Shankweiler, the science facilities at Muhlenberg now match the quality of our students, faculty and reputation for excellence. A "Science Street" runs from Trumbower across the new bridge, through Shankweiler and into the New Science Building. Various research neighborhoods are located along the "street" with clusters of offices, research and teaching labs grouped to facilitate the sharing of instrumentation amongst researchers with common interests. The neighborhoods are centered around a "living room" area where students and faculty can meet and informally continue conversations begun in class as well as share the latest research results.

The 47,362 square foot New Science Building completed in July of 2006 adjoins the 36,400 square foot John V. Shankweiler Biology Building which was completely renovated during the 2006-2007 academic year. The buildings house biology laboratories and biology faculty, chemistry laboratories, mathematics classrooms, a fourth floor green house and the Acopian Center for Ornithology. A main sciences corridor extending from the west end of the New Science Building, through the Shankweiler Building and a new 4,750 square foot Harry C. Trexler sciences tower, connects via raised walkways to the Trumbower Science Building, which houses the Departments of Chemistry, Physics and Mathematical Sciences. In addition to modern laboratories, lecture halls and classrooms, the building contains special student, faculty and research facilities. The seamlessly interconnected complex of science buildings now totals nearly 150,000 square feet.

GEORGE T. ETTINGER BUILDING

The George T. Ettinger Building, renovated during 1990-91, is an academic facility housing the Languages, Literatures & Cultures; Sociology & Anthropology; Political Science; Accounting, Business & Economics; and History Departments. The four-floor structure also houses the Walter and Margaret Berger Learning Center, the Office of Information Technology, numerous computer laboratories, a state-of-the-art language learning center, and the Price-Waterhouse accounting classroom.

FORREST G. MOYER HALL

Forrest G. Moyer Hall, a new four-story academic building, was completed in April 2000. Named for alumnus Forrest G. Moyer, M.D., the building houses the Psychology, Education, Philosophy, and Religion Studies Departments. Included are psychology laboratories, departmental reading rooms, and faculty offices within a two-story atrium. Also located in this facility are the Center for Ethics and Leadership and the Institute for Jewish-Christian Understanding. The main level includes a large forum space to be used for lectures, conferences, and other special events.

THE JOHN A. W. HAAS COLLEGE CENTER

The Haas College Center, formerly the Haas Library, is a campus and community landmark building renovated in 1989-1990. It houses administrative offices including Admissions, Alumni Relations, Financial Aid, Registrar, President's and Deans' offices, as well as Business/Finance/Treasurer, Human Resources, and Development offices. The Center contains public spaces including a tiered conference room, several meeting rooms and a spacious lobby used for ceremonial occasions.

LIFE SPORTS CENTER

The Life Sports Center, completed in August of 2004 with a 40,000 square foot, three-level expansion is now the largest building complex on the Muhlenberg campus. The Center is designed to support intercollegiate athletics as well as fitness, recreational, and intramural activities. The new addition includes a large coed weight room, spacious cardiovascular fitness area, coaches' offices, locker rooms, a new athletic training facility, and a juice bar and food venue.

Included in the new structure are conference rooms, classrooms, and suites for College Health Services and College Counseling Services. This new space is supported by a tournament size basketball court with seating for 3,500; a 32,000 square foot multi-use field house for tennis, indoor jogging and other activities; a six-lane, 25 meter swimming pool; racquetball and squash courts, a Pilates Center, and a wrestling room. A state-of-the-art AstroTurf GameDay Grass 3D synthetic turf field for football, lacrosse, and field hockey and an 8-lane all-weather track are adjacent to the Center. Six new all-weather tennis courts, soccer fields, sandpit volleyball courts and basketball courts are also located on campus.

STUDENT HOUSING

A wide variety of housing experiences are made available for Muhlenberg's student population. Ten residence halls provide traditional dormitory and suite-style living arrangements. Completed in January of 2007 is a new student apartment building housing 48 students. The Village, which was opened in August of 2007, consists of five apartment-style buildings clustered village-style and is available to upperclassmen.

Thirty-one small houses owned by the college located in the adjacent neighborhoods are available to those students who meet the special criteria to live in the Muhlenberg Independent Living Experiences (M.I.L.E.) houses. Completing the housing offerings are four fraternities and three sorority houses.

OTHER CAMPUS FACILITIES

The John Peter Gabriel House contains the Muhlenberg Evening College and the Wescoe School of Professional Studies. Walson Hall, formerly Old Commons, opened in spring 2002 and is home to WMUH and the Department of Media and Communication. In addition to faculty offices, it contains a television studio, post production facilities and digital laboratories. The Hoffman House, renovated in 1997, is host to meetings and other events for Muhlenberg faculty, staff, and guests. The facility includes an all-purpose room, several lounges, a seminar room, a kitchen, and three guest rooms.

OFF-CAMPUS FACILITIES

The Conrad W. Raker Biological Field Station and Wildlife Sanctuary, a 40-acre wooded tract situated 15 miles north of the campus, is used by biology classes for field study. A section of Jordan Creek within the preserve provides added opportunity for aquatic biology studies. Students and staff also conduct research on varied aspects of plant and animal biology. The Lee and Virginia Graver Arboretum, a 50-acre tract located 20 miles northeast of campus, offers a diverse array of field research and other educational opportunities for Muhlenberg students. Its natural wooded area consists of Pennsylvania native plant species, a wild flower habitat with over 300 species, more than 3,000 rhododendrons, hundreds of azaleas and other broadleaf evergreens and an unusual collection of conifer tree species. It includes a 12-acre research facility which is also used for activities and meetings.

 Numbers are Fall 2008/Spring 2009. To bring Trexler Library in alignment with standard American College and Research Libraries practice, beginning January 2009 (Spring 2009), the library began reporting reference desk queries for a “typical week” during the active academic year rather counting every day of the semester.

HOURS OF OPERATION PER YEAR

Academic semester	105 hrs/wk
Break periods	40 hrs/wk
Summer session	70 hrs/wk

Flexible spaces throughout Trexler Library enable group study, designated silent research space, and areas for social learning and interactive activities. Services include one-on-one research appointments, citation consultations, classroom-based library instruction, IM and e-mail reference services. Librarians throughout the library work with students, faculty, staff, and community members in providing programs that highlight the collection and facilitate intellectual engagement in research and conversation. The library also serves as a Government Depository library and provides access to this collection for local residents. Whether visiting the library physically or virtually, resources are available in a wide variety of media types including streaming video, online journals, electronic reserves, and a growing book collection.

Highlights of the library include an Information Commons and an Information Consultation Center. The Information Commons offers high-end multimedia development workstations for taking research from project conception, through production, and into presentation. The Information Consultation Center brings the Public Outreach and Information Literacy Librarians together with the Writing Center tutors to provide one central location for shared consultations. The full library is equipped with wireless access and offers laptop and tablet computers for check out. The Special Collections are designated as a “We the People” collection for the extensive Pennsylvania Dutch works and have received international recognition for the ancient papyri collection.

Students and faculty have access to more than 15,000 full text journals online, along with a wide array of print journals. Trexler Library also holds the largest art film DVD and VHS collection in the Lehigh Valley, with esoteric and mainstream titles. The Juvenile Collection, intended as a laboratory collection for education students, includes Juvenile Fiction and Juvenile Nonfiction.

Interlibrary loan significantly adds access to information resources to allow users to request a copy of books and articles from partner libraries. In addition, the Library’s participation in the LVAIC privileges agreement allows Muhlenberg users to borrow books from the libraries at Lehigh, Lafayette, Moravian, DeSales, and Cedar Crest and have access to their library facilities.

2. MARTIN ART GALLERY

The Martin Art Gallery provides the Muhlenberg and Lehigh Valley communities with the opportunity for increased understanding of the visual arts, art history, and cultural diversity through the display of the College's impressive permanent collection as well as through special exhibitions of work by contemporary artists, art faculty, or in collaboration with other art institutions. The Gallery's exhibition schedule is enhanced by gallery talks, artist receptions, and cross-curriculum programs. It occupies a prominent location on campus in the Baker Center for the Arts, a striking arts facility designed by renowned American architect, Philip Johnson.

The permanent collection consists of the Tonner Collection, more than 1,700 works-on-paper that range from 16th- century European masters such as Albrecht Durer to 19th-century American artists such as James Abbott McNeill Whistler and Mary Cassatt. Also part of the collection is a complete 20-volume set (more than 700 images) of Edward S. Curtis's photogravures, The North American Indian, and contemporary paintings, prints, sculpture, and photography. Some of the 20th-century artists whose work is represented in the collection include Imogen Cunningham, Richard Anuskiewicz, Robert Rauschenberg, Mark di Suvero, and Harry Bertoia.

Information about the Martin Art Gallery is accessible at www.muhlenberg.edu/cultural/gallery/. All Gallery exhibitions and programs are free and open to the public. Hours are Tuesdays through Saturdays, noon to 8:00PM.

3. ACADEMIC RESOURCE CENTER

The Academic Resource Center offers assistance to all students through its award-winning peer tutoring program. This includes first-year Learning Strategies Workshops, the Learning Assistants in the Classroom initiative, content workshops, small group tutoring, and individual academic assistance offered by three professional Learning Specialists. The College Reading and Learning Association has certified Muhlenberg's Peer Tutoring Program to the Master Tutor level since 1993. Each year, over 300 Peer Tutors are available in most subjects, including Dance and Stage Design. Individual tutoring is provided on a weekly basis with no cost to the enrolled student.

Most fall semesters, we train up to 11 students to become Learning Assistants in the classroom by offering a full unit course titled Adult Personal and Cognitive Development: Implications for Instruction. These Learning Assistants are placed in gateway classes to assist students as they begin the transition to self-regulated learning. They provide students with sound metacognitive practices and strategic learning skills for the specific course. In addition, we offer first-year students Learning Strategies Workshops. These are conducted in the evening by peer Learning Strategies Instructors and include such topics as time management, critical reading, test preparation, memory strategies, computer skills, and motivation.

Throughout the entire academic year, we offer content-specific workshops in many subjects. These workshops meet in the evenings, generally for two hours, and are conducted by workshop tutors who work collaboratively with the instructors. Most semesters, we offer workshops in Calculus, Physics, Biology, Chemistry, Financial Accounting, Psychological Statistics, Music Theory, and Statistical Methods. Other workshops can be arranged by student or faculty requests. Students who prefer to work individually to develop their strategic learning may make appointments with one of three Learning Specialists, and students with disabilities that impact cognition are strongly encouraged to use this service on a regular basis.

4. WRITING CENTER

The Writing Center located on Level A of the library, provides students with drop-in tutorial sessions in which tutors help students develop their ideas, improve their organization, and refine matters of style and delivery. Tutors are students selected through faculty recommendation, interview and portfolio. They are trained in a semester-long course on writing pedagogy and by apprenticeship to experienced tutors. This fall, the Writing Center will begin a collaboration with reference librarians in a combined writing and research center.

The Writing Assistants Program puts tutors in the classroom. WA's are assigned to first-year seminars where they work closely with the professor to help students make the transition from high school to college writing and learning. They attend all classes and meet one-on-one with students several times during the semester to work on writing assignments.

The Writing Associates Program links a Writing Center tutor with a writing-intensive (W) course at any level beyond the first-year seminar. The writing associate meets with students in the course about their papers but does not attend classes. Ideally, he or she is a major in the discipline and (best case scenario) has already taken this course with the professor with whom he or she is working. Faculty interested in having a writing associate should contact Jill Stephen or David Rosenwasser.

The Writing Mentors Program provides weekly individual tutorial sessions for students who may benefit from more consistent, in-depth support. Mentoring arrangements are made by contacting Kate Conrad, the Assistant Director of the Writing Center, or Wendy Cole, Director of the Academic Resource Center.

6. THE CAREER CENTER

THE CAREER CENTER

Contact: Cailín M. Pachter, Director, Lower Level, Seegers Union, ext. 3170

The Career Center promotes career development by encouraging students to integrate their academic and co-curricular experiences and inspiring them to:

EXPLORE – increase awareness of interests, skills, and values; gather information and experience to assist with informed decision making; promote curiosity about the world in anticipation of lives of leadership and service.

PREPARE – develop tools, strategies, skills, and knowledge related to goals; improve ability to understand and communicate the value of an aggregate Muhlenberg experience; consider the challenges of college to career transition and plan for lifelong learning.

CONNECT – network with and obtain information from people, organizations, information, and other resources that will help students meet career goals.

To support its mission, the Center offers numerous programs and services for students.

The Career Center targets first-year students for many of its programs since exploration and planning are recommended over a four-year timeline. Students are encouraged to visit the Center as early as possible and individual appointments are available with the career counselors. In these sessions students may choose to discuss topics such as choosing majors, determining career goals, or finding a job or internship. Pre-law advising is also available.

Among the programs offered are those that expose students to working professionals and the world beyond college. Discussions with guest speakers during events, such as “Alumni in the Spotlight”, give students the chance to learn about a variety of career fields. The Muhlenberg Career Network enables students to meet and gain advice from alumni in careers ranging from banking and writing to research and teaching. Students may participate in the Muhlenberg Shadow Program which links students with alumni or other professionals for an on-site visit.

The Career Center regularly holds workshops on topics such as career decision-making, choosing a major, writing graduate school essays, resume writing, developing job search strategies, finding summer jobs/internships, networking, and college-to-career transition. “Dine for Success,” mock interviews, resume clinics and alumni career panels are just a few of the innovative programs that prepare students and provide pertinent information. A comprehensive “Gearing Up for Graduate School” series provides students with necessary information to be competitive in the application process.

Internships are available for students seeking work experience related to their career interests. These are listed in “Career Connections”, the Center’s online database to which all students have an account. Part-time, off-campus, and summer job opportunities are listed in the Center’s Resource Library. The Career Center takes an active approach to helping students identify potential employers. Each year, representatives from a variety of fields come to campus to interview students for full-time employment and internships. Hundreds of positions are entered into the Career Connections database each year for students to access. In addition, links on the Career Center’s web page (www.muhlenberg.edu/careercenter) help students learn about other opportunities. Internship and job fairs are held both on- and off-campus.

V. Student Life

1. STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student Body Association

The Student Body Association serves as the executive instrument for directing student life and providing democratic government in all phases of student activity. All regularly matriculated students of Muhlenberg College are members of this association. The Student Body Association has at least four regular meetings a year. Special meetings may be called by the Student Council or held at the request of ten percent of all members. These meetings serve as an open forum of communication between the Student Body and Student Council. The constitution of the Student Body Association, as well as the Student Council By-laws, is available on the Student Council website.

The Student Body Association elects a Student Body President and seven representatives from each class. These twenty-nine members along with the Presidents of each class serve as the executive board of the Student Body Association, known as Student Council.

Student Council

The officers of the Council, in rank order, are President of the Student Body Association, Vice President, Executive Secretary, Recording Secretary and Treasurer. The membership of the Council elects all officers except President at their first regular meeting. Through its standing committees, the Student Council is involved in all aspects of student life including, but not limited to, the funding of all campus recognized clubs and organizations, recommending policy to campus officials and generating ideas and programs beneficial to the entire campus.

II. Parents

1. THE PARENTS COUNCIL

The Muhlenberg College Parents Council is a leadership group of Muhlenberg parents who are committed to academic excellence. As members of the Parents Council, these individuals help lead the Parents Fund in continuing a rich tradition of commitment, loyalty, and support to the College.

One of the leading reasons for the success of the Parents Council is the generosity of its members. The Council members give both time and monetary support. Setting the pace for the Parents Fund effort, members of the Parents Council are encouraged to make a gift of $1,500 or more.

Membership in the Parents Council is limited. Each parent or parent couple is invited to join the Council by the President of the College.

The Parents Council has three specific purposes:

ADVANCEMENT

The Parents Council assists the College in meeting parent funding goals by providing parents with opportunities to learn more about the purpose, plans, and programs of the College as these influence the quality and direction of students' education.

ADVISORY

The Parents Council meets at least twice during the academic year. These meetings facilitate parent-college communication by sharing parent perceptions, impressions, and opinions about Muhlenberg with faculty and administration so that the College might better respond to parent concerns.

ADVOCACY

Parent Council members advocate on behalf of the College. They shall be vocal ambassadors for the College in their hometown as well as in their professional and civic organizations.

1. HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHTS

- 1848 Allentown Seminary, the educational institution from which Muhlenberg College evolved, is opened in the Livingston Mansion, 4th and Walnut Streets, by Reverend Christian R. Kessler, a minister in the Reformed Church. The Seminary is established as a Teachers' Seminary, with a disappointing opening enrollment of 11 students, only four of whom had come to prepare for teaching. The large parlor of the building is used as a schoolroom and the reception room as a recitation room. Shortly thereafter, while keeping its original aim, the Seminary is changed to a classical school and enrollment increases.
- 1850 A large one-story stone building east of Trout Hall is refitted to furnish a larger classroom. Enrollment at the Seminary is now 80.
- 1851 A new building is added to the west of the Seminary property and a Female Department is opened to accept those students displaced when the Female Seminary on Penn Street is closed. The Seminary expands to three departments: primary, academic for males, and a female seminary.
- 1854 Reverend Kessler dies at the age of 32 and is succeeded by the Reverend William M. Reynolds, D.D., of the Lutheran Church. A central building of four stories is erected connecting the two wings and the Livingston Mansion is raised to three stories.
- 1857 Reverend Reynolds resigns to accept the presidency of Illinois State University in Springfield, Illinois, and is succeeded by the Reverend William Phillips, a pastor of the Reformed Church who serves until March 1859.
- 1859 Reverend William R. Hofford, a Reformed Church pastor, becomes Principal of the Seminary and serves until March 1864.
- 1864 The Seminary is reorganized as the Allentown Collegiate and Military Institute, chartered with collegiate powers and privileges by the Pennsylvania State Legislature. The cadet company becomes known as the Allentown Collegiate Cadets and the student body becomes all male.
- 1865 The Ministerium Committee reports its progress in securing the buildings and grounds of the Allentown Collegiate Institute and its efforts to transfer Pennsylvania College from Gettysburg to Allentown. The latter proposition is rejected.
- 1867 The Allentown Collegiate and Military Institute becomes The Allentown Collegiate Institute on January 8, but closes in the spring of the year. On May 21, the institution becomes Muhlenberg College, named after Henry Melchior Muhlenberg, the patriarch of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America. The Reverend Frederick A. Muhlenberg, the first president, is the great grandson of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg. The College opens in September with an enrollment of four seniors, two juniors, six sophomores, 13 freshmen, and eight faculty.
- 1868 The College awards its first baccalaureate degrees. The Board passes a resolution that they "...would not object to any professor erecting a house upon the College grounds..." However, the house has to become property of the College and the Board has to decide the location and approve the plans. The keeping of hogs on campus comes to an end and the pen is sold.
- 1873 Endowment climbs to $42,000 but the financial panic of that year spurs talk of liquidation. The College observes its 25th anniversary.

- 1876 Dr. Muhlenberg resigns to accept a Professorship of Greek at the University of Pennsylvania. Ministerium management is transmitted to the Board of Trustees, chaired by Dr. Theodore L. Seip. The Board elects the Reverend Benjamin Sadtler, D.D., as the second president of the College.
- 1879 The Honorable Asa Packer, President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, leaves a $30,000 bequest to Muhlenberg College. The monies are used to endow the Asa Packer Professorship of the Natural and Applied Sciences. First holder of the chair is Dr. Edgar Fahs Smith.

- 1902 The Board approves the purchase of nearly 52 acres known as the Ephraim Butz farm, at a cost of $300 per acre, for a new college location in West Allentown. The property extends from Cedar Creek to Liberty Street and is bounded on the east by Henry Leh’s farm and on the west by the Dorney property. The site is accessible by means of two trolley lines, one of which runs to 21st and Chew Streets, the other to Dorneyville and on to Kutztown.

2. THE BYLAWS OF THE COLLEGE

PREAMBLE

The purpose and character of Muhlenberg College as an institution of higher education "in an atmosphere of Christian culture" (Charter, Article II) are explicated as follows:

- A. Muhlenberg is a private, church-related, non-profit, co-educational liberal arts college, dedicated to the proposition that "making real a thorough academic and cultural preparation for all avenues of life" (Charter, Article II) involves the provision of opportunities for students not only to develop their intellects and engage in activities to promote their physical well-being, but also to deepen their spiritual insights and expand their social sensitivities. The purpose is to further personal growth, where knowledge will be coupled with understanding, individual freedom will be exercised in the context of corporate responsibility, ambitions will be informed through a wider perspective of the human experience, and decision-making will be enhanced by ultimate values.

Basic to the fulfillment of this purpose are, among other factors:

1. The maintenance of high academic standards, with a faculty which is both scholarly and skilled in teaching and which, together with members of the administration, is concerned with the growth of persons.
 2. An emphasis upon the achievement of mutual respect and trust in a campus community wherein the common search for truth and meaning is open-minded, conducted both in the classroom and through a variety of stimulating individual group relationships, including the Christian witness within the universal church.
 3. A community of students, faculty and administrators which will include persons bringing to the College perspectives of traditions and insights from various races, cultures and socio-economic sectors of the human family.
 4. The provision of facilities and equipment adequate to the attainment of the intellectual, spiritual, social, and physical goals specified above.
- B. The "church-related" character of Muhlenberg signifies the mutual concern of the Church and College regarding the search for identity and meaning in life, which both partners regard as indispensable to the educational process. The Church cherishes the academic traditions and does not demand particular requirements in belief, worship, and lifestyle on the part of all members of the College community, nor does it instruct the Trustees whom it elects to do so. It expects that the College will deal with religion responsibly, as a central rather than a marginal concern, and that the Christian view of, and values in, life will be presented in ways appropriate to an academic community. Repudiating any covert pressures, the Church recognizes that truth-claims have no reality for a person until freely and inwardly appropriated. It regards its support of higher education not only as a means for enriching individual lives, but also as a service to society. Its special contribution is a faith-experience which the Church wishes to share, believing that thereby all members in the College community will be enriched and enabled better to serve the human family in making progress toward that genuine community marked by justice and peace necessary for the well-being of people and nations.
- C. It is in the context of the foregoing paragraphs that the use of such terms as "church-related," "principles," "character of the College," and "the Muhlenberg tradition" are to be construed, and in harmony with which the life and work of the College is to be directed.
- D. These Bylaws state the basic rules of the College and together with the charter, resolutions and policies adopted by the Board take precedence over all other publications of the College, including, but not limited to, the College Catalog, Faculty Handbook, and Student Handbook.

All Trustees shall be nominated for membership to the Board by the Nominations and Honorary Degrees Committee (“Nominations Committee”) in accordance with the policies and procedures adopted by the Board and shall have such qualifications as determined by the Board and shall be elected by the Board at a Regular or Special Meeting of the Board to serve a term of three (3) years.

Each Trustee shall hold office until the earlier of: (i) the conclusion of his or her term, (ii) until his or her earlier death or resignation, or (iii) unless removed prior to the end of his or her term by a vote of two-thirds (2/3) of all voting Trustees then in office, as provided in Article I, Section 3. If a vacancy shall occur by death, removal or resignation, the Nominations Committee shall nominate and at a Regular or Special Meeting of the Board the Board shall elect the Trustee’s successor for the balance of the unexpired term.

B. TERM OF OFFICE FOR TRUSTEES. Trustee’s term of office: (i) for persons elected to fill a vacancy on the Board, will commence at the next regular meeting of the Board following such person's election, and such term will end on the third anniversary of the first June 30 following their election; and (ii) for persons elected to fill an impending vacancy on the Board, will commence on the next July 1, and such term will end on the third anniversary thereof. A partial year of service will not be counted toward the twelve-year term limit, as described in Article I, Section 2.C.

C. LIMITATIONS ON TERMS OF OFFICE FOR TRUSTEES. Trustees may serve four (4) full successive terms, and until their successors are ratified or elected and qualified. However, any Trustee who has served for four (4) successive full terms or has completed twelve (12) successive years as a Trustee shall not be eligible for re-election or re-ratification for a period of one (1) year following the close of his or her fourth full successive term, or the twelfth successive year in office, whichever shall first occur.

Immediately upon such suspension, the Trustee shall not be permitted to act, vote or otherwise act as a Trustee, pending the suspension review outlined in this section.

Any Trustee may appeal such suspension to the Nominations Committee by notifying the Secretary of the Board, in writing, at least ten (10) days prior to the next regular meeting of the Board. The Trustee, or his/her representative, shall appear before and submit to the Nominations Committee any evidence or information that the Trustee believes warrants the reversal of the automatic suspension provisions of this section. The Nominations Committee shall consider the evidence and information presented by the Trustee and will make a recommendation to the Board as to whether the automatic suspension shall be reversed. The automatic suspension provision of the Board may be reversed by majority vote of the members present at the Nominations Committee meeting held for that purpose. The recommendation of the Nominations Committee to reverse the automatic suspension shall be brought to the full Board who must approve such recommendation by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of those voting Trustees in attendance at such meeting. Upon such approval by the Board, the Trustee's automatic suspension shall be rescinded and the Trustee shall resume his regular tenure and position in office.

In reviewing a Trustee's suspension pursuant to this section, the Nominations Committee and the Board as the case may be, shall review and take into consideration any and all personal, family and health issues related to the Trustee's attendance as well as the Trustee's past, present and future commitment to the College. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the Nominations Committee shall have the authority, on its own, to rescind the automatic suspension of a Trustee and to bring such matter to the Board for approval without requiring such Trustee to appear before or submit evidence to the Nominations Committee. The Nominations Committee may take such action based on health issues or any other compelling circumstances deemed appropriate by the Nominations Committee.

C. Removal from Office. A Trustee may be removed at any time by a vote to two-thirds (2/3) of all voting Trustees then in office, provided that all Trustees have been given written notice of the intent to call such question to a vote (which notice shall contain the grounds for removal) no less than thirty (30) days prior to such vote.

To this end, the provisions of this Article IX shall be deemed to have been amended for the benefit of Trustees, officers and committee members of the College effective immediately upon any modification of the Nonprofit Corporation Law of 1988 ("NPCL") or any modification, or adoption of any other law that expands or enlarges the power or obligation of corporations organized under the NPCL to indemnify, or advance expenses to, Trustees, officers and committee members of corporations.

Section 3. ADVANCEMENT OF EXPENSES. The College shall pay expenses incurred by an officer, Trustee or committee member, and shall pay expenses incurred by any other employee or agent indemnified under this Article, in defending an action, or proceeding referred to in this Article IX in advance of the final disposition of such action or proceeding upon receipt of an undertaking by or on behalf of such person to repay such amount if it shall ultimately be determined that he or she is not entitled to be indemnified by the College. The College need not obtain the authorization of the voting Trustees with respect to any such payment of expenses.

Section 4. CONTINUATION OF RIGHTS. The indemnification and advancement of expenses provided by, or granted pursuant to, this Article IX shall, unless otherwise provided when authorized or ratified, continue as to a person who has ceased to be a Trustee, officer, committee member, employee or agent of the College and shall inure to the benefit of the heirs, executors and administrators of such person.

Section 6. INDEMNIFICATION AGREEMENTS AUTHORIZED. The College shall have the authority to enter into a separate indemnification agreement with any officer, Trustee, committee member, employee or agent of the College or any subsidiary providing for such indemnification of such person as the voting Trustees shall determine up to the fullest extent permitted by law.

Section 7. INDEMNIFICATION PROCEDURE.

- A. As soon as practicable after receipt by any person specified in Section 1 of this Article IX of notice of the commencement of any action, suit or proceeding specified in Section 1 of this Article IX, such person shall, if a claim with respect thereto may be made against the College under Article IX of these Bylaws, notify the College in writing of the commencement or threat thereof; however, the omission so to notify the College shall not relieve the College from any liability under Article IX of these Bylaws unless the College shall have been prejudiced thereby or from any other liability which it may have to such person other than under Article IX of these Bylaws.
- B. With respect to any such action as to which such person notifies the College of the commencement or threat thereof, the College may participate therein at its own expense and, except as otherwise provided herein, to the extent that it desires, the College, jointly with any other indemnifying party similarly notified, shall be entitled to assume the defense thereof, with counsel selected by the College to the reasonable satisfaction of such person. After notice from the College to such person of its election to assume the defense thereof, the College shall not be liable to such person under Article IX of these Bylaws for any legal or other expenses subsequently incurred by such person in connection with the defense thereof other than as otherwise provided herein. Such person shall have the right to employ his or her own counsel in such action, but the fees and expenses of such counsel incurred after notice from the College of its assumption of the defense thereof shall be at the expense of such person unless: (i) the employment of counsel by such person shall have been authorized by the College; or (ii) such person shall have reasonably concluded and the voting Trustees have agreed, in their reasonable judgment, that there may be a conflict of interest between the College and such person in the conduct of the defense of such proceeding. With respect to any matter in which the voting Trustees have agreed that such a conflict of interest exists, and separate counsel has been retained by the person(s) indemnified hereunder, the College shall bear the fees and expenses of such defense but shall not be required to assume the defense thereof. In the event the College approves separate counsel for a person(s) indemnified hereunder, the engagement of specific counsel shall be subject to the reasonable approval of the College.

- C. If indemnification or advancement of expenses under Article IX of these Bylaws are not paid or made by the College, or on its behalf, within ninety (90) days after a written claim for indemnification or a request for an advancement of expenses has been received by the College, such person may, at any time thereafter, bring suit against the College to recover the unpaid amount of the claim or the advancement of expenses. The right to indemnification and advancements of expenses provided hereunder shall be enforceable by such person in any court of competent jurisdiction. The burden of proving that indemnification is not appropriate shall be on the College. Expenses reasonably incurred by such person in connection with successfully establishing the right to indemnification or advancement of expenses, in whole or in part, shall also be indemnified by the College.
- D. When the voting Trustees are required to make a determination of any issues relating to matters in this Article, such determination shall be with the advice of counsel and by a majority vote of the voting Trustees.

Section 8. INSURANCE. The College shall have the power to purchase and maintain insurance on behalf of any person who is or was a Trustee, officer, committee member, employee or agent of the College, or is or was serving at the request of the College as a Trustee, officer, committee member, employee or agent of another domestic or foreign corporation for profit or not-for-profit, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against any liability asserted against him or her and incurred by him or her in any such capacity, or arising out of his or her status as such, whether or not the College would have the power to indemnify such person against such liability under the provisions of this Article IX.

Section 9. NO RETROACTIVE EFFECT OF AMENDMENTS. Notwithstanding any other provision of these Bylaws, any amendment, repeal or adoption of any provision of these Bylaws that is inconsistent with the purpose or intent of this Article IX shall become effective only on a prospective basis from and after the date of such action.
